BERLIN (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy flew without hindrance along the 195-mile air corridor to West Berlin today and pledged anew American determination to stand by this isolated city.

The U.S. Air Force plane carrying Kennedy, his wife Ethel, and their party of about 15 landed in a snowstorm.

Thousands of Berliners lined the streets despite the weather, to cheer the visitors on their ride to City Hall. The route included a detour past the Communist wall. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt had urged the citizens to show their attachment to the United States by giving a rousing welcome to the brother of the President.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal representative here, the American commander, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, and the mayor were on hand at the airport.

Edward M. Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, also was due in the city to celebrate his 30th birthday and hold a 24-hour reunion with Robert. Edward, who also is making a personal tour, was flying from Paris by commercial plane.

Robert is nearing the end of a month-long tour which he said was to meet people and explain American policies.

As the Kennedy's plane flew the 20-mile wide corridor from Frankfurt, informed sources at the Berlin air safety center said the Soviet representative there had not repeated his attempts to reserve air space in the airlines for Soviet planes.

The source said the Soviets gave advance notice of specific Soviet flights in the northern corridor to Hamburg, but they did not interfere with Western flights.

A crisis arose in the corridors two weeks ago when the Soviets announced at the air safety center, the only four-power agency still functioning in Berlin, that they were wanted to reserve blocks of space in some of the corridors for Soviet military flights.

Western controllers at the center denied the request and held to the rules that each flight must be registered individually.

Reports Theft of Pet Deer

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP)—A Pocahontas man reported to police today that somebody has stolen his pet deer.

Jack Taylor found the deer in the woods as a fawn eight months ago and, with a permit from the State Game and Fish Commission, raised it as a pet.

Taylor said a witness told him somebody loaded the animal in a pickup truck and drove off with it.

The deer, allowed to roam the neighborhood, was missed when it didn't return for its food.

JFK Insists Urban Dept. Will Come

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has torpedoed President Kennedy's plan to establish a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs. But he says there will be later.

The lopsided 264-150 House vote Wednesday also killed Kennedy's plans to put a Negro, Robert C. Weaver, in the Cabinet for the first time. Weaver, now head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, would have become the urban affairs secretary.

In turning back Kennedy's reorganization proposal 111 Democrats, mostly Southerners, joined 153 Republicans. Thirteen Republicans crossed over to support the President, voting with 137 Democrats for the plan.

At his news conference Kennedy blamed his expected but stunning setback on sectionalism.

He said: "If we in this country began to adopt the system that everyone who lives in a city area voted against those things which were of assistance to the farmer, and everybody who comes from a rural area voted against those policies which provided a better life for people in the city this country would come to a grinding halt."

Expressing regret that Congress had rejected the plan, Kennedy said he still regarded creation of such a department vitally important. "I don't think it is so much the administration's loss as it is a loss for the cities and the country," he said.

In a statement blistering the Republican party as "blindly obstructionist," Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey took no note of the heavy Democratic vote against the plan. If Democrats had gone down the line for the President his proposal would have gone through.

Battle Line, a publication of the Republican National Committee, again accused Kennedy of attempting "to belaud the issue with a cynical appeal to racial prejudice." Battle Line said Kennedy "emerges from the urban affairs fiasco as a man struck down by a boomerang."

The publication said Kennedy had injected a "false race issue" when he said he would appoint Weaver to head the department. Two House Democrats who are Negroes saw a political bonanza in the whopping rejection of Kennedy's plan.

"The Republicans have really cut their throats," said Rep. Robert N. C. Nix, of Philadelphia. "They have shown as clearly as it possibly could be shown that they don't care anything for the people in the cities."

Another Negro member, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., said, "The vote was a vote of prejudice, and all minorities will react against it."

The entire issue was heavily charged with politics from the beginning. Republicans decried any notion that they were opposing Weaver personally.

Meet Called to Discuss Potatoes

Farmers of Hempstead County interested in growing sweet potatoes under contract will have an opportunity to do so this year, according to Calvin Caldwell, the county agent.

The three have been charged with petit larceny.

Observatory Next for Space Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An orbiting solar observatory, nicknamed Oso, is scheduled to be launched here next week to make the most comprehensive study yet of the sun and how it affects conditions on earth.

Flying in a circular orbit 350 miles above the earth, Oso's delicate instruments will be able to take readings uncluttered by the earth's heavy atmosphere.

Major assignment of the 400-pound laboratory will be to measure X rays and gamma, ultraviolet and infrared rays streaming toward earth from the sun. Those potentially deadly particles are absorbed or distorted by the atmosphere and thus are prevented from reaching earth.

Scientists feel the rays and the directions in which they travel hold clues to the origin and history of the solar system. They also may help show how the sun controls our weather, interferes with communications and alters the composition of the globe-circling radiation belts.

Officials Will Tour Base Sites

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Nineteen mayors, other public officials and civic leaders from central Arkansas left Little Rock Air Force Base today for a tour of missile sites in Kansas and the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Samuel Is Named to Nat'l Post

Monroe Samuel of the DeAnn community was selected for a position of major importance in national agriculture, at Philadelphia, Pa. early this month. He will act as one of the 14 directors in the National Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts.

The National Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts is representative and governing body for over 2000 Soil Conservation Districts in the U.S. Its primary concern is the conservation of soil and water and the establishment of Small Watersheds in the nation.

A lifetime farmer and conservationist, Monroe has been active in soil conservation work since before World War II. His farm experience includes cotton farming, livestock management, and tree farming. Along with terracing his croplands and sodding his pastures and waterways he has planted 70,000 trees on his farm lands.

Due to his leadership in conservation practices he was selected in early years as a supervisor in the Hempstead County SCD. He has served as vice president, acting as secretary and treasurer for the Southwest Arkansas SCD. In recent years he has been vice president and president of the Arkansas SCD. Nationally he has served as a committeeman on Research, Small Watersheds, Forestry and Wildlife. His most notable accomplishment has been his leadership in forestry for the farmers and small woodland owners. In the woodland program he has been instrumental in getting districts to provide woodland tools and services for farmers and the small woodland owners.

Due to his good management on over 40 acres of his own farm woodlands Mr. Samuel was selected as an "Arkansas Tree Farm" operator. The Arkansas Tree Farm organization is sponsored by the leading wood using industries in Arkansas who are promoting good farm practices and management. Mr. Samuel has been in the Arkansas Tree Farm program for over 10 years.

As a director in the National Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts Monroe will attend high level agriculture and soil and water conferences in Washington, D.C. and in other sections of the nation. In the interim he will continue his farming operations in the DeAnn Community.

Terrorist Attacks Sweep Algiers

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—A wave of terrorist attacks swept Algiers today as the right-wing Secret Army Organization made a last-ditch effort to wreck an impending French-Algerian agreement to end the 7½-year rebellion.

Police reported more than a score of scattered attacks between 7 a. m. and noon, as European gunmen in cars and on foot fired at Europeans and Muslims, killing at least 11 persons and wounding 15.

The violence erupted as the Algerian rebel National Council was called into session in Tripoli to act on an agreement with France to end the strife.

The 60-member parliament was expected to give the needed four-fifths approval to the accord paving the way for Algerian independence, a measure already endorsed by France.

With the measure reported approved by the rebel Cabinet, hopes soared for a cease-fire in the North African territory by Sunday.

Among the victims in today's outbreak were four postmen killed and three wounded. Harried officials accused the secret army of desperately seeking to provoke strikes and major disturbances on the eve of peace.

French headquarters for Algeria appeared confident that the army will succeed in keeping the tense situation in hand when a cease fire is announced. But the command is not taking any chances on the loyalty of various field commanders.

Informed sources said that the 500,000-man French army in Algeria has been permitted only 15 days of food and fuel supplies.

This drastic reduction from normal stocks apparently was meant to discourage officers from attempting to join forces with right-wing extremists.

Arkansans Helped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas House members lined up with a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition which killed President Kennedy's effort to create a Department of Urban Affairs by a 264-150 vote Wednesday. Reps. Dale A. Ford, Wilbur Mills, Oren Harris, J. W. Trimble, E. C. Gathings and Catherine Norrell voted for a resolution to reject the Kennedy plan.

Big Welcome Planned For U. S. Astronaut

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Bahamas (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. described more of his space adventures today and was reported getting a wee bit nervous over the public welcome scheduled for Friday.

His experiences in space, as related to associates here, included a vain attempt to get his hands on a camera film container which went floating around in his capsule in a state of weightlessness.

He also told of turning his spaceship completely around, the better to observe the mysterious "fireflies" that showed up outside the capsule at sunrise.

Up at 6 a. m. today for more physical checkups, Glenn is doing just wonderfully, said Dr. William K. Douglas, his personal physician.

He flies to Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday to meet President Kennedy and star at a news conference. That prospect has him a bit nervous, said Lt. Col. John A. Powers, of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Douglas, finding Glenn in perfect condition, said his actions showed that a man is highly useful in space flight and can do things that electronic instruments cannot.

Glenn showed curiosity and judgment, as in turning the ship about on his own decision, to face forward toward the sun to see whether the luminous particles flying outside his ship were still visible.

He could still see them coming from the same direction. He then turned his ship back to its usual position.

Dr. Douglas told of a bit of camera trouble. When Glenn was changing film, a container escaped from his hand and floated in front of him since it also was weightless.

Glenn reached out to get it, but hit it with his fingertips and it went soaring away. He never did.

12 Indicted on Income Tax Charges

HAMMON, Ind. (AP)—Twelve present and former Lake County officials will be arraigned on income tax charges in U. S. District Court Saturday.

The defendants include Mayor George Chacharis of Gary, Sheriff Peter Mandich and five members of the 1955 Hammond City Council.

Seven indictments were returned by a federal grand jury here Feb. 7 but were sealed then at the government's request because Metro Holovachka, former Lake County prosecutor, was on trial then on charges of evading $32,000 in income taxes.

Announcement of the indictments followed Holovachka's conviction early Wednesday. Several of those indicted had testified for the government at Holovachka's trial.

Chacharis, 54, was accused of receiving $226,686 in payoffs from construction companies and failing to report them on his tax returns for 1955-58.

The indictment that named Chacharis also charged Harold Zweig, 41, Gary city engineer, with failing to report $19,573 for 1955-58 and accused four other men of obstructing the government's attempts to collect taxes from Chacharis and Zweig.

The four are Mandich, 46; John Diamond, 40, chief of the Gary auto license branch; Peter Chacharis, 38, the mayor's brother, and William Chulock, 45, an accountant with offices in Chicago.

The five members of the Hammond City Council in 1955 were charged with failing to report a total of $13,000 allegedly received from the Missouri Dredging Co. They were identified as Arthur L. Bradburn Jr., 54; G. Homer Wolf, 48; Elmer Rose, Rudolph Hitler Swionick, 55, and Nicholas Gasparovic, 48.

A separate indictment charged George Pavol, 60, retired Gary city traffic engineer and police captain, with failing to report $6,851 for 1955, 1956, 1957 and 1960.

Smith said the increase was so large it was interfering with operations of the FBI, which is required to locate the missing draftees. ## Khrushchev Is Challenged to Prove Sincerity

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has challenged Soviet Premier Khrushchev to waste no time in proving he favors joint efforts to explore outer space.

"I think it is particularly important now, before space becomes devoted to uses of war," Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday.

Khrushchev had sent a message congratulating the United States on Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s triple orbit of the globe and suggesting the two governments combine resources to explore outer space.

Less than four hours after the news conference the White House made public a direct reply to Khrushchev. In it Kennedy expressed hope "that at a very early date our representatives may meet to discuss our ideas and yours in a spirit of practical cooperation."

He added the United States would come up with "new and concrete proposals" for joint enterprises that could be undertaken without delay.

Kennedy opened his news conference with a statement noting that twice before he had offered the same sort of proposition Khrushchev advanced. But the President called the Soviet premier's move an encouraging sign for international cooperation.

Glenn's memorable flight and the possibility of U.S.-Soviet cooperation in space dominated the half-hour meeting with newsmen. But in answering questions Kennedy also disclosed a special board of inquiry is determining whether U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers violated the contract under which he made his ill-fated reconnaissance flight over the Soviet Union on May 1, 1960.

Government officials have interrogated Powers in secret ever since he was released Feb. 10 in a prisoner exchange with the Soviets.

As for the chance of lowering barriers between the United States and the Soviet Union on space projects, Kennedy said this country would be happy to discuss cooperation at the United Nations or anywhere else. But he insisted cooperation would have to be genuine. And he acknowledged there is no more assurance now than ever that the Soviets are willing to transform general expressions of togetherness into specific agreements.

The conference was Kennedy's sixth in as many weeks.

He had this to say on other subjects:

Urban Affairs — Despite the House vote killing for this session of Congress his proposal to establish a department of urban affairs, one will be created sooner or later.

Corridors — Any interference with Western rights of air or land transport over East Germany into West Berlin would carry "hazards which none of us should welcome if we look to the possible end of the road."

Berlin — If there are indications that bringing foreign ministers together on the Berlin crisis would produce results, "then I think we ought to do it."

Telephones In Hope

Did you know that there are 4,139 telephones in Hope? There are 239 more than a year ago. Of this addition there are 27 more business phones, 212 more residential phones. Of these there were 76 resident extensions and 20 business extensions added. There are 349 resident phones that are colored sets and 79 business phones that are colored sets. Our city continues to grow and the people see the need of having more than one phone in their home, and how much a beautiful colored phone adds to a home. With spring and summer coming up you could surely add beauty to your home by letting us install a colored extension in your home. Call the Business Office, PR7-4601, or see any of your Telephone Service Men.

Shopping By Phone

I have a friend who has three small children, all of them under five years of age. As most of you mothers can appreciate, raising a lively young family is quite a chore. My friend's three youngsters keep her pretty well tied up, too. "How do you do it?" I asked her the other day. "Of all people, you should know," she replied.

"When you have to do everything for three small children, it's not easy to leave the house, even for essential shopping," she said. "I've really appreciated our telephone. I can do all my shopping and visiting in a matter of minutes, without even leaving the house."

I told her, "I couldn't have done a better job if I had written the script myself."

Shopping by phone saves wear and tear on tires and shoe leather — and people — and will give you more time to do other things that crowd your busy day. Why not try it?

Telephone Off the Hook

It happens many times a day in Hope. That's how many telephone receivers are left "off the hook" every day. When this happens, it blocks all incoming calls. And on a party line, it puts the other phones out of service. To make sure no one misses important calls, please tell the children in your family to be sure they replace the receiver after talking.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Dear Helen: This might be a timely letter to publish in your column on Washington's birthday. He fought for the freedom of his country. I fought for freedom from tyranny of another kind seven years ago—the dictatorship of a strong-willed wife who refused to let me call my soul my own. God knows how I found the courage, after 13 long years to leave. An understanding judge gave me my freedom and with it, our five children. So you see I must have had right on my side. "You'll never make it without me," screamed my wife in court. The judge had to rap for order. Hers was always the bellicose, negative approach. Secretly I wondered, too, if I could make a go of being mother as well as father to my youngsters. I soon realized that I, as well as she, under-estimated our children.

Burnt Sugar Special

ICE CREAM TAKES THE CAKE in this scrumptious dessert which improves on the "Sundae" theme. A ring of burnt sugar cake, made from a deluxe mix, is piled high with scoops of ice cream, sauced with burnt sugar sauce, and sprinkled with nuts. Delicious!

Whether you're 8, 18, or 80 you'll agree that this luscious ice cream dessert really takes the cake! And the cake is that wonderful old-fashioned burnt sugar flavor, one of the ten newly improved deluxe layer cake mixes on your grocery's shelf. A special ingredient has been added, a flavor-building ingredient not found in any cookbook recipe, which enhances the moistness and flavor-appeal of the baked cakes. Only 2 minutes of heating at one speed make an extra creamy-rich batter ready for the oven. You'll want to try this Sundae special, perfect for family desserts, occasional for easy entertaining.

Burnt Sugar Sundae Ring
1 package deluxe burnt sugar cake mix
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 cup burnt sugar sauce
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Burnt Sugar Sauce
1/2 cup burnt sugar liquid
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup undiluted evaporated milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup light corn syrup
Combine all ingredients. Cook over low heat, stirring, until sugar is melted. Bring to a boil and simmer for 3 minutes.

Make cake according to directions on package, reserving half the burnt sugar liquid for the sauce. Turn batter into a greased and floured 3-quart ring mold and bake in a preheated 350° oven for 40 to 45 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes, then turn out on rack to cool thoroughly. When ready to serve, fill center with scoops of ice cream, top with warm burnt sugar sauce and sprinkle with walnuts. Serves 12.

Few Things in World of Science

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Medical facilities in the event of atomic attack and new studies on hardening of the arteries figure in the medical news.

Atomic Attack

If atomic attack ever is made on America, many exposed victims in hot fallout areas probably would be pretty much on their own until the radiation subsided to safe levels.

A North Carolina physician queried the American Medical Association on the ethical duties of physicians under such circumstances, saying: "I am not sure I would be capable, even if I had an adequate shelter, of turning down requests for treatment."

An AMA consultant replied: "Civil defense authorities agree that the physician is in the same category as everyone else regarding shelter protection from radioactive fallout. It would be short sighted for a physician to provide medical services to casualties in a hot area that would in a short time incapacitate him to fulfill subsequent medical responsibilities. While this does not appear to be a question of ethics, the physician should recognize that all health services be conserved to provide maximum recovery from such a disaster."

Hardened Arteries

Hardening of the arteries is a major cause of heart attacks in the United States and a recent study in New Orleans indicates it can have a good start in boys by the time they are 10.

Heart researchers studied the coronary arteries of 548 persons who died at various ages from various causes. Their report was carried in the American Journal of Pathology.

It showed that between the ages of 10 and 30, white males have approximately three times as much atherosclerotic involve-

Contracts for Fallout Shelter

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Fort Smith architectural firm of Mol, Mobley, Horsman & Stalon was awarded its second contract in the current fallout shelter program in Arkansas Tuesday. The contract awarded by the U.S. Army Engineers calls for a survey of structures suitable as shelters from radioactive fallout. The 12 counties included in the survey are: Benton, Carroll, Crawford, Franklin, Logan, Madison, Montgomery, Polk, Scott, Sebastian, Washington and Yell.

ment—plugging of the artery channel—as white females. The difference decreases after age 40. No such clear-cut difference exists between the sexes among Negroes because Negro women do not seem to share the immunity of young and middle-aged white women.

After age 50, the study indicated, differences between all four groups disappear.

No Wonder He Had the Headaches

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It was 11:10 p.m. Mary McLaughlin was sitting quietly in her kitchen.

Wham! A window gave way with a crash and a stocky man came flying through and sprawled on the floor.

Mrs. McLaughlin screamed. The man picked himself up, ran through the house and left—head first—through a back bedroom window.

Fifteen minutes later, and four blocks away, Richard Souder, 24, was awakened by the crash of breaking glass. He saw a man getting up from the bedroom floor. The man looked at Souder for a second, ran through the apartment and dived out another closed window.

The man ran from Souder's house, across the street, jumped through a window of George Averell's home and then, head first again, out a kitchen window. By this time police were all over the neighborhood.

Mrs. James Wylie was reading in her living room when, crash, the man came jumping through a window a few feet from her. She screamed and the man ran through the glass front door—and sat down.

That's where police found him. He was treated for a broken ankle, head injuries and numerous cuts of the head, face, arms and neck.

He gave his name as James Edward Givins, 31, and his occupation as a presser.

Why the window smashing? Givins was quoted as saying he had had terrific headaches and hadn't slept for three or four days.

He was held without charge.

Remove Traffic Lights

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The traffic section of the state highway

Department reports 87 unwarranted or substandard traffic lights were removed from Arkansas highways last year. Traffic Engineer B. K. Cooper said the lights were removed only after studies. Only 35 lights were removed in 1960.

Can Business Cycle Be Controlled

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—How far can major ups and downs in the business cycle be controlled? Can they be linked by government action?

These are the questions behind President Kennedy's request for standby public works spending authority to halt any future sharp rise in unemployment.

One extreme school of thought is that we already have tamed the business cycle which used periodically to bring on major depressions like the big one in the 1930s. The numerous economic cushions and safeguards set up since then have made any like disaster impossible—according to this school.

At the other end of the economic thinking is the view that the real strength of the business cycle hasn't been tested thoroughly since the 1930s, that it's far from sure yet that a major slump couldn't happen again.

The downturns we've had since World War II—known by the less frightening name of recession—have had their own short-term causes and short-term effects. They show the business cycle still exists, that it is restricted by such cushions as unemployment insurance, and to some extent at least by government pump priming.

The question is whether the cycle can be counted upon to stay short term and relatively mild—and if it can be made even milder.

The President thinks there should be more cushions and that they should be of a preventive or fast acting nature. He wants to be able to start up public works spending quickly, rather than the present process of voting for it, planning details, and then getting it under way many months after the slump has hit.

He also wants coverage of state unemployment compensation expanded and benefits enlarged. And he'd like to be in position to cut individual income tax rates fairly quickly to stimulate consumer spending.

His chances of getting Congress to grant such authority remain to be seen. When times are good or seem likely to improve, Americans in and out of Congress are slow to consider the possibilities of bad times returning.

The relatively quick return of

UA Editor Disagrees With Faubus

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

The editor of the University of Arkansas campus newspaper that touched off a controversy over a talk on sex by a New York lecturer, has replied in print to criticism by Gov. Orval E. Faubus that the speech should have been editorially censored.

Arnold Snow, editor of the Arkansas Traveler, said in a lead article Tuesday he didn't think the governor was fully informed of circumstances of the talk of Dr. Albert Ellis last week.

Dr. Ellis' talk on the campus, as reported by Snow, drew criticism from the Fayetteville Ministerial Association, censure from Faubus and an apology from university officials.

Faubus said last Saturday that if the report on the talk was necessary to inform the people of the state about what is going on at the university the article was proper. If not, the governor said, "the editors should have used some good old-fashioned self-censorship on the entire thing."

In his Tuesday article Snow said, "I doubt that the governor would have us act as self-appointed censors in any way when he report one of his speeches. I think his statement is a result of not being fully informed about the Ellis situation."

Snow said his paper gave the Ellis story the same coverage as other speeches and didn't attempt to sensationalize. He said of Faubus, "If he were more aware of the role a free newspaper in the University program, I don't think he would have called for self-imposed censorship."

Duke William of Normandy started the Norman conquest of England by defeating King Harold at the Battle of Hastings, in 1066.

generally prosperous business after each of the postwar recessions has added recruits to the ranks of the believers that the once feared business cycle has been licked.

And, at the other end of the scale, the belief that the business cycle will continue in some form, no matter what the government tries to do about changing the economic laws, dampens enthusiasm for the schemes the President proposes.

Saucy Good Chicken Is On The Menu

January's cold weather gives all a hearty appetite. To plan your menu accordingly, you might spend a little more time in the kitchen... actually the time is still comparatively short when you use convenient frozen and canned foods... preparing warming stew and skillet dishes. But, the winning smiles you'll get from your family will make up the difference.

Take two packages of frozen chicken parts from your freezer and allow to thaw according to label directions. Then, in a large skillet brown the chicken along with 1/2 teaspoon whole thyme in some butter or margarine. Stir in a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup and add small whole white onions to complete the recipe. You'll be delighted with the results... so will your family... for it's a mighty tasty dish.

With this saucy good chicken serve a buttered green vegetable and a salad. Warm pineapple upside down cake topped with whipped cream brings dinner to a pleasant conclusion.

Saucy Chicken With Onions
2 packages (1 pound each) chicken parts, thawed
1/2 teaspoon whole thyme
1 cup butter or margarine
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup water
10 small whole white onions
1 large skillet, brown chicken along with thyme in butter. Stir in soup and water; add onions. Cover; simmer about 45 minutes or until chicken is tender, stirring now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Slayton Next Astronaut in Line

By CHARLES STAFFORD

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Now it's Donald K. (Deke) Slayton in the astronauts' go position.

Sometime in April, the muscular 37-year-old Air Force major will ride his own space capsule into orbit aboard Atlas 107D—already on its way to the launching pad. He will, that is, unless a combination of weather and technical troubles touch off a series of delays like those which thwarted spaceman John H. Glenn Jr. for so long.

Slayton, a ready man with a wisecrack, monitored Glenn's trail-blazing flight Tuesday from the Mercury control center at the Cape. Then he flew down the missile range to Grand Turk Island to welcome Glenn back from space with a vigorous handshake.

Glenn, Slayton and astronaut Scott Carpenter soon had their heads together in animated conversation about the jaunty Marine's orbital flight.

Slayton's flight will follow Glenn's trail—three orbits. However, he will have different assignments while whirling through space so more information can be obtained.

Slayton's backup pilot will be Walter Marty Schirra Jr., 36, a Navy commander from Hackensack, N.J.

Still waiting at the launch pad for a flight assignment are Scott Carpenter of Boulder, Colo., Gordon Cooper Jr. of Shawnee, Okla., and Schirra.

Robert L. Gilruth, Project Mercury director, said all will get their chance. Following the Slayton flight, he said, new pilot teams will be formed among the seven astronauts for later flights. Slayton was born in Sparta, Wis., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Slayton, who live there now. He is married to the former Marjorie Lunney of Los Angeles, and they have one son, Kent.

Pope Receives Robt. Kennedy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII received U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy today and expressed his congratulations for the space flight of American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Pope John, who reportedly prayed for the successful outcome of the space flight while Glenn orbited the earth, received Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, at the threshold of his private library. The Pope was smiling broadly, attendants said.

The supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church expressed his hope to the President's brother, a Catholic, that scientific progress, as demonstrated by Glenn's orbital flight would "always and only" be used for the welfare of mankind and the service of peace. The pontiff said he hoped such developments would never be used as a means of destruction.

Pope John first received Kennedy alone in his private library, a large, many-windowed chamber. A few minutes later Mrs. Kennedy joined the audience. The meeting lasted about 25 minutes.

First Flight Only the Beginning

By BEM PRICE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The flight of U.S. astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., three times around the world was but a beginning.

Space programs, which ultimately will cost upwards of $10 billion, are coming into being from one end of the nation to the other.

The success of Glenn's venture into space Tuesday was a signal. Throughout the remainder of 1962, the United States plans to fly five orbital missions—four identical to Glenn's and one of 18 orbits.

This program will continue into 1963 until four men have orbited the earth 18 times each.

Even now the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is in the process of recruiting 2,000 additional scientists and engineers to add to its roster of 6,000.

The object of the prolonged orbital program is to accustom astronauts to life and working conditions in the dark of space and during periods of the prolonged weightlessness.

On Dec. 7, NASA announced a $500-million program to build space trains for use as bases for exploration of the moon.

Eventually, under this program two-man space ships will be lifted into orbit along with extra fuel tanks and then coupled in space in much the same fashion as railroad trains are assembled in a marshaling yard.

The purpose of the space train program is to train astronauts for future trips around and to the moon. The two-man spaceships will remain in orbit for a week or longer.

Flights by the two-man spacecraft are scheduled to begin in the 1963-64 period, NASA said, with the present seven astronauts acting as pilots.

Toward the end of this experiment, the United States will begin to recruit additional space pilots.

While the space train program is in full swing the nation will be striving to build a huge rocket capable of producing thrusts upwards of 22 million pounds.

If this vehicle proves feasible, direct flights to the moon will be attempted. This is known as Project Nova.

Parallel to all this the United States will be engaged in still another moon landing program known as Project Apollo.

North American Aviation recently was awarded a $400-million contract to build a three-man space capsule for Project Apollo.

On Dec. 15, NASA announced that Boeing Co. had been awarded a $300-million contract to build airframes for the huge Apollo rocket known as Saturn.

Eight of these early Saturns, each costing $8 million, will be tested throughout 1962-63.

The Greek statesman Pericles selected the architect, Ictinus, and the sculptor, Phidias, to design and raise the Parthenon.

Untouchable Player Has 8 Children

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One couple plus eight kids equals chaos? Not the way the Paul Picernis run their household.

You may think Paul is a brave man on "The Untouchables"—he's the No. 2 untouchable, after Robert Stack—but the rest of us fathers would give him the medal of valor, with clusters, for facing what he does every night when he goes home from the studio.

Meaning: Nicci, 13; Paul Vincent (Peevee), 12; Gemma, 11; Maria, 10; Charles Philip (Cee-pee), 8; Mike, 7; Phillip, 6; Gina, 5. They span the eighth grade to kindergarten, missing only the seventh grade.

Mothers would agree that Paul's wife Marie deserves even more medals for managing and feeding this one-family gang without any outside help.

"They're pretty good kids," said Papa Picernis on a rare afternoon off from the TV series. "Each of them has his own duties to perform."

"We also have a system of merits and demerits. Merits are earned by doing something that pleases their parents above and beyond their regular chores. Ten of them are worth a dollar.

"On the other hand, 25 demerits are worth a trip to the woodshed, where their father uses the leather strap. Come to think of it, there haven't been any trips to the woodshed lately."

The last one to make it was Mike, who prepared himself with 13 layers of underwear. He got five extra blows because of that. The Picernis inhabit a rambling house which Paul expanded from two bedrooms to five. There's plenty of yard to race around in, and a shelter for the horse.

"It came last Christmas," Paul said. "I told the kids if they would raise $50 to buy a horse, I would put up the rest. I never thought they would do it, but they did."

Charged With Murder

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—Gussie Keys, 47, a Negro woman, was charged with murder Tuesday in connection with the ice pick slaying of Lee Burton, a 50-year-old Negro man. Burton's body was found Saturday in the ruins on his burned home here.

Popular children's games, such as hide-and-seek and blindman's bluff, were played by adults as late as the 15th century.

Lamb Claims Control of Seiberling

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Lamb, Toledo industrialist who has tried for six years to win control of the Seiberling Rubber Co. of Barberton, Ohio, is expected to announce today that he has succeeded.

In scheduling a news conference to "make an important announcement relative to Seiberling Rubber Co.," the 60-year-old millionaire gave no advance detail. But in a letter written last Friday he advised Harry P. Schrank, Seiberling president, that he had acquired control of the company.

Schrank said in Akron Tuesday night that Lamb's letter stressed he "did not buy control of this company to liquidate it." Lamb's letter said that his latest effort to add to his Seiberling holdings had brought him more than 40,000 shares to add to more than 200,000 he already held.

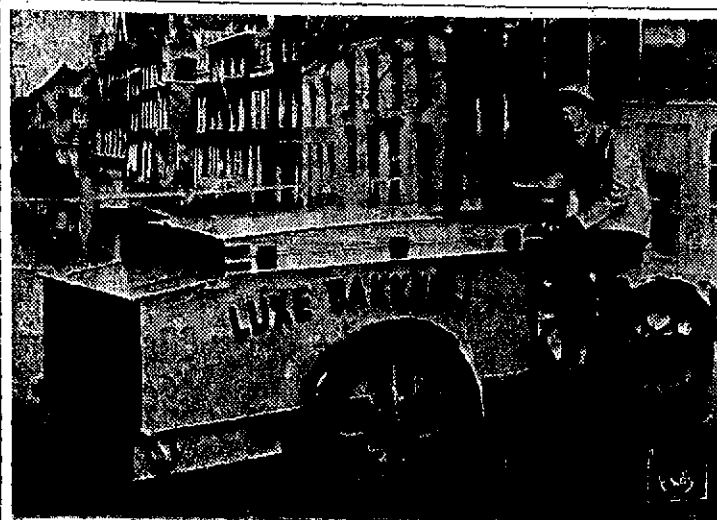

Lamb's letter was passed along Monday by Schrank to dealers, distributors and other Seiberling personnel.

Schrank, a Seiberling vice president for 25 years, became president last Sept. 1, succeeding James Penfield Seiberling, 64, whose father founded the 41-year-old firm. Management policies of Seiberling had been criticized by Lamb as timid and backward.

After six years of net income near $1 million, Seiberling earnings dropped to $131,000 in 1960 on sales of $48 million and last week the company announced it lost $948,000 on sales of $46,650,000 in 1961.

Seiberling major product is replacement tires, but about one-fourth of its sales are in plastics, auto floor mats, shoe soles and heels and other products. The company has plants at Barberton, Ohio; Toronto, Canada; and Newcomerstown, Ohio, and Batesville, Ark.

Only a little more than a year ago Lamb bought 45,000 shares of Seiberling stock, paying a premium price. That enabled him to increase his representation on the 15-member board from four to five at the annual meeting last May.

Chapter 16

Jenny was alone in the drawing room when Saunders opened the door for Hilda. She looked up expectantly, but her bright look faded and she returned Hilda's greeting absently. She was wearing the yellow gown that set off her dark hair and eyes so becomingly, and those eyes kept wandering to the door so often, that it was no surprise to Hilda when Race Nash was shown in.

"Why, Race!" Jenny exclaimed, going to him eagerly, with both hands out. "How nice that you should come tonight, my first night downstairs!"

"Yes, indeed," Hilda said dryly. "An unexpected surprise."

"But not unpleasant, I trust," Race rejoined. He took Jenny's hands in his and looked down at her intently, then he turned to Hilda. "Jenny's looking very well, don't you think?"

"Yes, very," Hilda agreed briefly.

"The others will be down soon. Come on, Race, let's go look at the birds in the conservatory," said Jenny.

"They'll be covered at this hour," Hilda objected.

"Well, then, we'll look at the flowers. They won't be covered," Hilda allowed herself to be persuaded. To her surprise, the conservatory was lighted, though the birds were covered and their songs stilled. But another song was heard a man's voice, singing in a low, pleasant baritone. Hilda couldn't see anyone.

"Who's that?" she asked, unconsciously whispering.

"Only Louis, the gardener," Jenny said carelessly. "He must be somewhere about." She went ahead of them into the room.

Following Jenny out, Hilda saw a tall, dark man kneeling by Aunt Judith's flower bed. He was working the earth with his fingers, but he rose in a lithe movement as they approached, wiping his hands on a bright red apron and flashing a white smile from his swarthy face.

"Good evening, Louis," Jenny said pleasantly.

The man nodded vigorously. "Miz Jenny, all better now, hey?"

"Yes, thank you," Jenny passed by and Hilda looked up at the man. His gaze was on Race behind her, and his smile, if possible, was broader than ever.

"Meester Ray," he said, pulling a black forelock and bowing deeply, European style.

Race lingered by the gardener. "Very pretty," Hilda heard him say. "Just like home. Good night, Louis."

"Good night, Meester Ray. God keep."

Hilda was surprised at the fervency in the man's voice, and she wondered why the gardener looked familiar to her.

"By the way," said Race, breaking into the conversation at dinner. "I was at the Star and Garter the other night, and I met Jerry Lowe there." He looked at George Russell expectantly but received no reply and went in.

"You know Jerry, George. He used to be associated with Jim Fisk."

Uncle George stared at Race coldly. "Never heard of him. Got anything to do with Fisk, don't want to."

"Race," Aunt Judith's tone was warning, "you know perfectly well George disapproves of Mr. Fisk."

Not unnaturally, after that conversation lagged and Hilda thought dinner would never end. But at last Aunt Judith rose and signaled for the girls to follow.

Ordinarily, Race went with them, leaving Uncle George alone, with his port and his cigar. But tonight he stayed by his chair.

Race gave Jenny a rather extraordinary smile, Hilda thought. It was, at once, tender, and meaningful.

"You know, Kitten," he said, "you look just the way you used to when you recited that poem. Something from 'Jerusalem,' I think."

Jenny looked disconcerted and puzzled. "You mean, 'Bring me my bow of burning gold . . .'"

Judith Russell had been frowning from Jenny to Race, but now she laughed. "Perhaps you two know what you're talking about. I confess, I don't."

At the foot of the stairs, she turned to Jenny. "I'm sorry it has to be such a short evening for you, Jenny dear, but you know what Dr. Updyke said."

Hilda couldn't have been more surprised when Jenny weakly answered, "Yes, Aunt Judith," and

First Acting Job for Jersey Joe

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—He was a figure of quiet dignity as he sat alone in the MGM commissary. Jersey Joe Walcott, his broad face only slightly damaged from his 21 years in the ring, welcomed the visitor and told what he was doing in these strange surroundings. He had come from Camden, N.J., to play a role in the TV show, "Cain's Hundred."

"My second acting job," he reported. "The first was in 'The Harder They Fall' with Humphrey Bogart. I got a lot of criticism from the fight game for being in that one. It was a pretty exaggerated picture of boxing."

Joe excused himself and bowed his head in a solitary grace before starting his lunch. Then he went on to explain what he was doing these days.

"I'm working with the Camden police department in a kind of crime prevention program," he said. "I go around to the schools and give talks, I organize clubs and teams, and I look into the cases of kids who get in trouble."

The short-term champ—he won the heavyweight crown from Ezard Charles in 1951, lost it in 1952 to Rocky Marciano—had no regrets about changing careers. "I quit boxing when I realized I didn't have it any more," said he. "I've got six grandchildren and I want to enjoy them."

He started out fighting wherever and whenever he could. During most of his career he fought for peanuts; a fee of $300 was a rarity.

"It was only in the last two or three years that I made any big money," he said. "I figure I earned about a million dollars in all."

Unlike previous champs, he managed to keep some of it. He has it invested in motels and car wash businesses and could live on the income if he wanted to. But he'd rather work. Besides his police work, he referees two or three boxing and wrestling matches a month.

Reservoir Fight Hearings to End

By JOHN JUTTON

DALTON, Ark. (AP)—The spilt fight over a proposed dam and reservoir on the Eleven Point River near here went into its final round today before Army Engineers.

Today's session was held in the 400-capacity gymnasium of the Dalton High School.

Classes were dismissed for the day so students could attend the hearing if they wished.

The crowd began gathering several hours before hearing time. It wasn't deterred by fog and overcast skies.

Against Urban Bill

began to go up. Hilda started to follow, but felt a restraining hand on her arm.

"Come into the drawing room" Aunt Judith said. "I want to speak to you."

With the door closed, she began at once. "What did you make of that business of Race and Jenny?"

Whatever Hilda had been expecting, it hadn't been this. "I thought he was teasing Jenny, reminding her that he'd known her as a child."

Details Are Left Out on Laos Reforms

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration emphasizes the military aid it is giving South Viet Nam. Little is said about the reforms that are supposed to be taking place there.

The military aid is to help the Vietnamese to fight Communist guerrillas. The administration deliberately has not gone into details on this, President Kennedy says it is a sensitive subject.

But it's the reforms, under the dictatorial regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem and his family, which are intended to give the people a reason for fighting communism.

It can be assumed they won't fight much unless they feel they have more to lose than gain under communism. The record indicates they haven't been fighting much.

Reports from South Viet Nam put the Communist guerrilla forces, coming down from Red-bellied North Viet Nam, at a maximum of 20,000 men. They've been taking over the country, although Diem has 150,000 to 175,000 men.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, at the end of his third trip in two months to Pearl Harbor to talk about the military problem in Viet Nam with American officials from there and Washington, said that this country has trained South Vietnamese guerrilla forces which have now been able to "stabilize Communist forces."

That doesn't sound very firm, but it may be understandable since he also said the end is not in sight.

Eight years ago, when he was a senator, President Kennedy very clearly, much more clearly than the Eisenhower administration, saw the problem in what was then Indochina, made up of the two Viet Nams.

The French had held the country since the 19th century and refused to give the people independence or to train either native officers or administrators. The Vietnamese Communists made war on them and were smashing them.

More than $1 billion in American aid wasn't saving the French. In a Senate speech in 1954 Kennedy called on the French to give the Vietnamese independence.

"The problem, as he saw it, if Indochina was to be saved, was to give the masses of the people some reason for fighting communism."

He said then: "The hard truth of the matter is, first, that without the wholehearted support of the people—without a reliable and crusading native army with a dependable officer corps, a military victory, even with American support, in that area is difficult."

He was right. The Communists broke the French back and took half the country, North Viet Nam. That finished the French. They got out.

The United States moved in to keep the rest of the country from going Communist by helping the new, anti-Red government of Diem.

Six years ago, while still in the Senate, Kennedy called for big aid to Diem and his people, not just to keep the country non-Communist but for the welfare of the people.

After he became president, Kennedy, like the Eisenhower administration before him, shoved military and economic aid into South Viet Nam. In the past few months he has intensified the military aid.

Republicans have criticized him for not being candid about the nature of this aid. But he said Democratic and Republican leaders have been consulted. He does not want to go into details.

Altogether this country has given Viet Nam more than $2 billion in aid.

Still the living standards of the Vietnamese are extremely low and the Communists continued to make big gains, which was why this country had to step up military help.

Kennedy, who saw the problem clearly in 1954 and 1956, was in office almost a year before his administration announced agreement with Diem to put in broad reforms to the people. Since then practically nothing has been said about them.

Another Calif. Storm Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A torrent of rainwater swept the former wife of radio performer Walter O'Keefe to her death Tuesday night in a Beverly Hills street.

Roberta O'Keefe was a victim of the third storm to hit Southern California in 12 days.

A sudden cloudburst had swept the hills above Coldwater Canyon when Mrs. O'Keefe, 50, stepped from her car on the canyon road.

A mass of runoff water caught her and she lost her footing, falling beneath the car. A black downstream, in a storm drain, police found her handbag—and in it Mrs. O'Keefe's toy poodle, also drowned.

Five in Family Burn to Death

STRAITFORD, Conn. (AP)—Five young brothers and sisters burned to death in a fire that tore through their home today.

At least one other brother was critically burned.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams, ran into the street with two more of their children and screamed for help.

Six of the youngsters, ranging in age from 11 months to 9 years, were trapped in their second-floor bedrooms.

The dead children were James, 14 months; Carl, 4; Laurie, 7; George, 8; and John, 9.

Their brother, Timothy, 2, was alive when fireman Michael Banik reached him on the second floor, but he was critically hurt.

The parents and two children, Beverly, 6, and Charles, 10, stood in the snow on their lawn and shouted for help.

There are 35 hospitals and rest homes in the Greater Little Rock area with more than 5,000 beds.

Apportion Lawsuits Are Ready

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lawsuits attacking the manner in which the state Board of Apportionment altered makeup of the Arkansas House as a result of the 1960 census are ready for submission to the Arkansas Supreme Court Monday.

No oral arguments are scheduled. A ruling could come as early as March 5. The suits are original actions with the high court and have not been heard in a lower court.

The board — composed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Secretary of State Nancy Hall and Atty. Gen. Frank Holt — took one seat away from Mississippi County and gave one additional to Miller County.

Otherwise, makeup of the House was left as it has been since 1951. The change left Mississippi County with four representatives and Miller now has two.

The suits were filed by Pulaski and Jefferson County residents. They contend fair distribution of legislative strength would give Pulaski County three additional seats and Jefferson one more.

The four extra seats would come from Mississippi, Ouachita, White and Poinsett counties. The latter three counties now have two representatives each.

Poinsett, White, Ouachita and Miller counties have intervened in the suits in behalf of the board.

Marshal Arrested in Dec. 5 Death

GIDEON, Mo. (AP) — The night marshal of Gideon in southeast Missouri county has been arrested on a federal indictment charging him with violating a man's constitutional rights in shooting him to death Dec. 5.

Arrested Tuesday was 54-year-old Troy Fowler. He was released on $2,000 bond by a U. S. commissioner in Jackson, Mo. The charge is a misdemeanor. The indictment was returned last week in St. Louis by a federal grand jury.

The charge grew out of the fatal shooting of Verlan Graham, 33, a farmer, after Fowler arrested him in a tavern on a traffic charge. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The indictment charged Fowler acting under state laws "and for the purpose of imposing illegal summary punishment upon Verlan Graham" shot Graham "willfully and without lawful authority" with intent to deprive him of his rights.
